Select and monitor the work of contracted trainers, and approve training conducted by political sub-divisions for various public safety occupations; conduct skills training in specific occupational areas, and may conduct safety classes, as well as accident investigation.

Coordinate, oversee and/or conduct training sessions for both skill and general management curriculum.

Perform related duties as assigned.

CLASS CONCEPTS

Employee Development Manager: Under administrative direction, positions in this class plan, coordinate, supervise and evaluate statewide employee development programs for a major department. Work involves the supervision of a staff of trainers involved in delivery of a wide variety of general management and skill training responsibilities. The incumbent develops and monitors the agency's statewide training budget. This class is distinguished from the training officer classifications by the supervisory responsibility, size of training budget, variety of courses, and size and complexity of agency.

Training Officer II: Under general direction, positions in this class serve as training and curriculum coordinator for a department, major division or geographic region of a state agency. Responsibilities include development of training curriculum, conducting training, monitoring and evaluating contracted trainers, overseeing specific training programs and recommending training curriculum training requirements. This class is distinguished from the Employee Development Manager by the absence of supervisory and department-wide management responsibilities.

Training Officer I: Under general supervision of an Employee Development Manager or an administrative supervisor, positions in this class serve as a training and curriculum coordinator for state agencies; develop, deliver, and coordinate training programs; and coordinate and monitor the activities of other trainers. Positions in this class are distinguished from a Training Officer II by the smaller size of the departmental training program, less varied course offerings, and less diverse occupational groups to be trained.
